WOOF! Stanley REALLY cleaned up Friday night - thanks to the many doggy treats that magically appeared in his living room. If you had a hand in that, here's a special update just for you. If you didn't, fear not, there's always next year. Happy Halloween!

We sent this little blurb out to the Sun News last night. Who knows if they'll use it - guess that depends on if it's a "no-news" day.

October 29, 2007 Myrtle Beach, SC – Stanley Pinkerton, "Top Dog" at Pinkerton South Advertising, held court at his agency's 2nd annual Halloween party Saturday night, accumulating a tasty pile of dog treats due to the generosity of his many guests. As promised, he has now reluctantly agreed to donate the spoils to dogs who need treats more than he does, namely friends nearby at the Grand Strand Humane Society... quite an accomplishment from a basset hound who admits that he basically lives to eat.

Delivered to the Humane Society this morning. Thanks again!
